

FIRST RESPONDERS CHILDREN'S FOUNDATION

National First Responders Day

We honor first responder families by recognizing real-life heroes who risked their lives to rescue others in their communities, including children.

National First Responders Day

Our “Roll Call of Heroes” program recognizes first responders on a national stage on October 28th.

On National First Responder Day, hundreds of police officers, firefighters, nurses, EMTs and other first responder professionals from across America join First Responders Children's Foundation at a Times Square ceremony.

The individual representing each first responder category is honored for their heroism and receives an award on behalf of all first responders in their respective fields. They are true heroes representing the service and sacrifice of all in their profession.

FRCF organizes a spectacular venue of performers, speakers, and presentations. President Joe Biden provided a proclamation in support of National First Responders Day for the 2022 Times Square event, as did New York City Mayor Eric Adams, and the governors of 13 states.

The House of Representatives in Washington has already declared October 28 National First Responders Day, and it's both hoped and expected that the U.S. Senate will soon follow suit.

See photos from
National First Responders Day